Fee Waiver Request

ACCOUNTABLE^{.US}

Accountable.US requests a waiver of fees because it qualifies for classification as a “news media” requester, responsible only for duplication fees under FOIA's fee assessment provisions.²

So-called media status is consistent with how Accountable.US components have been treated by multiple agencies. The U.S. Department of the Treasury, Consumer Financial Protection Bureau (CFPB), and Federal Communications Commission (FCC) have all recognized this status in light of the regular publication and dissemination activities in which Accountable.US and its components, engage. Accountable.US will also make materials it gathers available on its public website.³

The disclosure of the requested information is also “in the public interest because it is likely to contribute significantly to public understanding” of government operations and is not “primarily in the commercial interest of the requester.” The disclosure of the information sought under this request will document and reveal the operations of the federal government, including how public funds are spent and how officials conduct the public's business. There is significant public interest in the integrity of the most recent general election.⁴

This request is primarily and fundamentally for non-commercial purposes.⁵ The Internal Revenue Service has recognized Accountable.US as tax-exempt under Section 501(c)(3) of the Internal Revenue Code. Accordingly, Accountable.US does not have a commercial purpose and the release of the information requested is not in Accountable.US's financial interest. Accountable.US's mission is to ensure public officials are advancing policies in the public's interest not for special interests.

Accordingly, Accountable.US qualifies for a fee waiver.

Conclusion

If you have any questions regarding this request, including how to construe the records sought or appropriate searches to locate them, please contact Accountable.US.

If my request is denied in whole or part, I ask that you justify all deletions by reference to specific exemptions of the act. Additionally, if any documents are withheld based on the Agency's interpretation of any exemption, Accountable.US requests that you provide an index of those documents as required under Vaughn v. Rosen, 484 F.2d 820 (D.C. Cir. 1973), cert. denied, 415 U.S. 977 (1974). Specifically, this Vaughn index should describe withheld documents with enough specificity to determine whether the material is exempt under the act and must describe each document or portion withheld.

² 5 U.S.C. § 552(a)(4)(A)(iii).

³ Accountable.US and its components have demonstrated a commitment to public disclosure and public education through its website. For example, their websites contain multiple substantive analyses, document repositories, and other educational resources: AlliedProgress.org/research; AlliedProgress.org/campaigns; RestorePublicTrust.org/news; RestorePublicTrust.org/BigPharmasBestFriends; WesternValuesProject.org/DepartmentofInfluence
