The U.S. Chamber Of Commerce Has Shown “Fierce” Opposition To The “Sweeping” Voting Rights Bill H.R. 1, The For The People Act Of 2021.

The U.S. Chamber Of Commerce, The “World’s Largest Business Organization,” Expressed “Fierce” Opposition To The For The People Act Of 2021, A “Sweeping” Anti-Voting Suppression Bill The Group Claimed Would Silence Corporations And Trade Associations.

April 2021: The U.S. Chamber of Commerce Expressed “Fierce Opposition” To The For The People Act, An Anti-Voting Suppression Bill Passed In The U.S. House Of Representatives That The Chamber Called “Extremely Problematic.” “At issue is the Chamber of Commerce's fierce opposition to the Democrats' sweeping voting bill known as the For the People Act, which advocates say would counter efforts by Georgia and other states to impose new voting restrictions. The Chamber of Commerce has slammed the legislation, which last month was approved by the US House of Representatives, as 'extremely problematic' in part because of new curbs on political advocacy by companies and associations.” CNN, [04/21/21]

The U.S. Chamber Claimed H.R. 1 Would “Silence” Those Who “Participate In The Political Process Through The Collective Action Of An Association Or Corporation.” “The U.S. Chamber of Commerce said it wants more people brought into the political process but that the bill would have “precisely the opposite effect – pushing certain voices, representing large segments of the electorate and U.S. economy, out of the political process altogether.’ The Chamber, in a letter to senators, said the legislation would ‘regulate and ultimately silence Americans who choose to petition their government or participate in the political process through the collective action of an association or corporation.’” Reuters, [04/13/21]

The U.S. Chamber Said It Would Factor Lawmakers’ Votes On H.R. 1 In Its Annual Scorecard. “Last week, the Chamber of Commerce sent a ‘key vote alert’ to senators detailing why it ‘strongly opposes’ the For the People Act and warning that it could include votes related to the bill in its annual scorecard.” CNN, [04/21/21]

The U.S. Chamber Is “One Of The Most Powerful Trade Groups In The Nation,” Spending $81.9 Million To Influence Government In 2020 Alone, Second Only To The National Association Of Realtors. “The Chamber is one of the most powerful trade groups in the nation. In 2020 alone, the organization spent $81.9 million trying to influence government policy, according to the Center for Responsive Politics. The only organization that spent more was the National Association of Realtors.” CNN, [04/21/21]

Microsoft's President Criticized Georgia's Election Integrity Act As Restricting Voters From Voting "Legally, Securely, And Safely" And Specifically Noted Its Restrictions On Voting Drop Boxes, Absentee Ballots, And Provisional Ballots As Hurting Voter Access.

In Late March 2021, Microsoft President Brad Smith Heavily Criticized Georgia's "Election Integrity Act" As Containing Provisions That "Unfairly Restrict The Rights Of People To Vote Legally, Securely, And Safely.

March 31, 2021: Microsoft President Brad Smith Authored A Blog Post Criticizing Georgia's "Election Integrity Act" As Containing "Important Provisions That Unfairly Restrict The Rights Of People To Vote Legally, Securely, And Safely. "We are creating thousands of new jobs, and we are proud to become a rapidly growing member of Atlanta's important business community. That's why we are concerned about many aspects of Georgia's new 'Election Integrity Act.' Two things are clear to us. First, the right to vote is the most cherished aspect of democracy. And second, this new law has important provisions that unfairly restrict the rights of people to vote legally, securely, and safely. That's why we voiced concern about this legislation even before it was passed." Microsoft, [03/31/21]

"Smith joined Microsoft in 1993, first spending three years in Paris leading the legal and corporate affairs team in Europe." Microsoft, accessed [05/10/21]

Smith Specifically Criticized The Georgia Law's Restrictions On Voting Drop Boxes, Absentee Ballots, And Provisional Ballots.

Smith Specifically Cited The Law's "Restrictions On Voting Drop Boxes" As Particularly Troublesome, Noting That Fulton County – "Where Most Of Microsoft's Employees Live" – Would See An "80 Percent Reduction In Drop Boxes." "Restrictions on Voting Drop Boxes. Georgia's new law requires that every county have a secure drop box for absentee ballots (which is good) but limits them to only one per 100,000 registered voters (which is terrible). This means that Fulton County, where most of Microsoft's employees live, likely will see an 80 percent reduction in drop boxes, from 40 during the 2020 election to only about eight moving forward." Microsoft, [03/31/21]

Smith Also Criticized The Law's "Restrictions On Absentee Ballots" Such As Significantly Narrowing The Period To Request An Absentee Ballot. "Other Restrictions on Absentee Ballots. While the new law preserves absentee ballots, it imposes new and unnecessary restrictions. For example, the window to request an absentee ballot is narrower, starting 11 weeks before the election and ending 11 days before. This is less than half the 180 day window that existed before." Microsoft, [03/31/21]

Lastly, Smith Criticized The Law's As Making It More Difficult For Voters To Have Provisional Ballots Reviewed And Counted. "Restrictions on Provisional Ballots. It's also a fact of life that busy people sometimes arrive at the wrong location to vote. That's why states across the country create provisional ballots so they can be reviewed and then counted if the vote is legal and proper. But the new law makes this more difficult. For example, voters who come to the wrong precinct will not have provisional ballots counted unless they arrive after 5 p.m. and they sign a statement stating they could not make it to the correct poll." Facebook, Which Launched Its "Voter Information Center" To Educate And Register Voters In 2020, Has Professed A Strong Commitment To Voting Access And Participation, With CEO Mark Zuckerberg Offering Paid Time Off To Employees Who Volunteer As Poll Workers And Proclaiming That Facebook Has A "Responsibility" To Encourage Voting And "Prevent Voter Suppression."

In 2020, Upon Launching Its Online Voter Registration Integration Known As The "Voting Information Center, Facebook Claimed That It Was "Built To Empower People By Giving Them A Voice And Voting Is One Of The Most Powerful Ways To Make Their Voice Heard."

In 2020, Facebook Announced The Launch Of Its "Voting Information Center" To Register Voters And "Make Their Voices Heard At The Ballot Box." "With the US elections less than five months away, today Facebook is launching the largest voting information campaign in American history. We're building a new Voting Information Center that will give millions of people accurate information about voting, while also giving them the tools they need to register and make their voices heard at the ballot box. Our goal is to help register 4 million voters this year using Facebook, Instagram and Messenger, and help them get to the polls so they can hold our leaders accountable. This goal is double the estimated 2 million people we helped register in both 2018 and 2016." Facebook, [06/16/20]

"Voting is voice. It's the single most powerful expression of democracy, the best way to hold our leaders accountable and how we address many of the issues our country is grappling with. I believe Facebook has a responsibility not just to prevent voter suppression — which disproportionately targets people of color — but also to actively support well-informed voter engagement, registration and turnout." USA Today, [06/16/20]

Zuckerberg Claimed, "We Remain Committed To Giving Everyone A Voice," Especially "Those Who Haven't Historically Had The Ability To Make Their Voices Heard." "Finally, we remain committed to giving everyone a voice. This is especially true for those who haven't historically had the ability to make their voices heard. Every election is a conversation about what we care about as a country — and every day millions of Americans participate in that conversation on Facebook. Free expression is part of the messy process of democracy, and we take our responsibility to protect it incredibly seriously." USA Today, [06/16/20]

In 2020, Facebook CEO Mark Zuckerberg Announced That As Part Of Facebook's Larger Voting Information Campaign, The Company Would Offer Paid Time Off To Employees Volunteering At Polling Locations, Claiming Specifically That Poll Worker Shortages "Can Lead To Hours-Long Waits At The Polls, Which Makes It Harder For People To Participate In The Democratic Process."

In September 2020, Facebook CEO Mark Zuckerberg Announced That Facebook Would Provide Paid Time Off For Employees To Volunteer At Polling Location As Part of Its "Larger Voting Information Campaign." "Facebook CEO Mark Zuckerberg said Friday the company will offer employees paid time off to vote and to staff polling stations for the November presidential election [...] 'This recruitment drive is part of Facebook's larger voting information campaign, with the goal to help 4 million people register and vote,' Zuckerberg said. American Airlines Railed Against Texas' Anti-Voter Legislation SB 7 And Stated A Belief That "We Should Break Down Barriers To Diversity, Equity And Inclusion In Our Society – Not Create Them."

Texas-Based American Airlines—The Largest Carrier In The U.S.—Stated "Unequivocal" Opposition To Voting Restrictions In SB 7 And Argued, "We Believe We Should Break Down Barriers To Diversity, Equity And Inclusion In Our Society – Not Create Them."

American Airlines, Based In Fort Worth, Texas, Is The Country's "Largest Carrier Both By Passengers Carried And Fleet Size." "American Airlines is the United States' largest carrier both by passengers carried and fleet size. The company is headquartered in Fort Worth, Texas, adjacent to the Dallas/Fort Worth International Airport." Forbes, [04/01/21]

American Airlines Stated "Unequivocal" Opposition To Voting Restrictions In Texas' SB 7. "One day after Delta Air Lines issued a statement opposing a new election law in Georgia that makes it harder for people to vote, American Airlines has now publicly opposed similar legislation in Texas that, if passed, would restrict voting access in a state that saw the highest turnout in decades in the 2020 election. In an overnight vote, the Republican-led Texas Senate advanced Senate Bill 7, which would limit early voting hours, prohibit drive-through voting and ban local election officials from proactively sending absentee ballots to eligible voters." Forbes, [04/01/21]

- American Airlines' Statement Said, "To Make American's Stance Clear: We Are Strongly Opposed To This Bill And Others Like It." "American's opposition to the passage of Senate Bill 7 is unequivocal. January 2021: IBM's Head Of Government And Regulatory Affairs Discussed "Why IBM Has Decided To Take A Stand On Good Government Issues"—The Executive Said He Recognized A "Sea Change" In How Employees, Shareholders, And Communities Expect The Company To Get Involved In Issues.

"IBM's head of government and regulatory affairs, Christopher Padilla, talked with CNBC to share why IBM has decided to take a stand on good government issues and how it has made its voice heard in Washington without PAC contributions. [...] Over the past summer during mass protests for racial justice and police reform, employees, consumers and shareholders looked to brands to take a stance on those issues. Many companies issued statements, pledged money to nonprofits and some, like IBM, backed policies like the George Floyd Justice in Policing Act. Padilla said he has noticed 'a sea change' in terms of how employees, shareholders and local communities expect the company to get involved in issues outside of its direct business during his nearly 12 years at IBM. 'What we're seeing more and more is companies are having to get involved in issues that maybe go a little bit outside their narrow lanes because their employees and their shareholders are expecting them to do so,' Padilla said. Our efforts include: [...] Providing flexible, paid time off for employees to get to their local polling location on election day this November and flexible scheduling options for other elections and primaries. [...] Encouraging our employees to exercise their right to vote through an on-going speaker series, featuring voting rights thought leaders, and sharing insights and education on the history of voting in the U.S. and the importance of democratic elections. [...] Launching a non-partisan online platform to make it easier for our employees to register and make a plan to vote – whether that is voting by mail, early voting or voting on Election Day. [...] Joining the "Time to Vote" campaign to help increase voter turnout." Synchrony. [07/21/20]
