Ben Ferguson Claimed Dominion Voting Systems, A Voting Machine Software Company, Facilitated Massive Voter Fraud In The 2020 Election And Compared Biden's Democratic Win To Elections Of Saddam Hussein And Kim Jong-Un

Ben Ferguson Retweeted A Meme About A "Dominion Dishwasher" Washing Hundreds Of Thousands Of Dishes In One Day.

After The 2020 Election, Conservative News Sources And President Trump Accused Dominion Voting Systems, A Provider Of Voting Machine Software, Of Switching Votes For Trump To Votes For Biden. "Multiple conservative news sources have claimed this week that vote counting software from Dominion Voting Systems deleted votes for President Donald Trump or switched votes to President-elect Joe Biden [...] Trump himself then magnified the claim. 'Report: Dominion deleted 2.7 million Trump votes nationwide. Data analysis finds 221,000 Pennsylvania votes switched from President Trump to Biden. 941,000 Trump votes deleted. States using Dominion Voting Systems switched 435,000 votes from Trump to Biden,' he wrote on Twitter." [\[USA Today, 11/14/21\]](#)

- A National Coalition Found No Evidence Of Voting Software Altering Votes In The 2020 Election. "A national coalition announced Thursday that there is no evidence that any voting software deleted or changed votes in last week's election [...] In fact, the security group — which includes the Department of Homeland Security's Cybersecurity and Infrastructure Security Agency and the National Association of State Election Directors — described the election as "the most secure in American history." James O’Keefe, Who Was Banned From Twitter After His Group—Project Veritas—Pushed Propaganda To Undermine The Validity Of The 2020 Election Results, Is Slated To Speak At CPAC 2021.

Project Veritas Is A Right Wing Group Who Pushed Propaganda Claiming The 2020 Election Was Illegitimate.

Project Veritas Is A Right Wing Group Known For Taking Undercover Footage And Deceptively Editing It To Discredit Their Opponents. “The ad includes footage by the far-right activist group Project Veritas that shows a man identified as a CNN employee talking about news coverage of Gaetz, Politico reported. Project Veritas is known for publishing undercover sting footage that has been deceptively edited to reflect badly on organizations and people it disagrees with.” The Hill, [4/14/21]

In The Runup To The 2020 Election, Project Veritas Used Their Undercover Tactics To Discredit Mail-In Voting, A Strategy Pushed By The Trump White House And Major Right Wing Groups. Headline: “Inside the Project Veritas Plan to Steal the Election James O’Keefe’s group is part of a sprawling campaign to delegitimize mail-in balloting in the fall—a campaign being led by the White House.” The New Republic, [8/03/20]

After The 2020 Election Project Veritas Founder James O’Keefe Posted Unsubstantiated Claims Of Ballot Fraud In Key Swing States That Went For Joe Biden. “This week, O’Keefe tweeted out a series of edited, vague and unsubstantiated interviews with supposed ‘whistleblowers’ from post offices in Michigan and Pennsylvania, who tried to claim USPS is stamping fraudulent Nov. 3 postmarks onto ballots picked up after Election Day in those states. [...] O’Keefe’s Pennsylvania source offered no direct proof aside from a brief conversation he says he overheard, and although Pennsylvania is accepting mail-in ballots with a Nov. 3 postmark until Friday per a court order, election officials are keeping those ballots separate from the overwhelming majority of votes that arrived before Election Day.” Forbes, [11/06/21]

An Unsubstantiated Allegation Of Voter Fraud In Pennsylvania Circulated By Project Veritas Was Cited In An Unsuccessful Trump Lawsuit Challenging The Election. “Project Veritas pushed a Pennsylvania postal worker’s claim about mail-in ballots that the Trump campaign would cite in a lawsuit that eventually went nowhere, according to The Washington Post.” CNBC, [1/13/21]

Project Veritas And Its Founder Were Sued For Defamation For The Videos They Circulated Baselessly Alleging Election Fraud In 2020. “Robert Weisenbach and his wife, Carolyn Ann Weisenbach, are suing Hopkins, Project Veritas and O’Keefe over claims of defamation, negligent misrepresentation, and intentional infliction of emotional distress. Jered Ede, chief legal counsel for Project Veritas, called the lawsuit ‘a fantasy land of baseless supposition upon which meritless claims are built’ in an email to the Erie Times-News.” Go Erie, [4/26/21]

Subsequently In April 2021, James O’Keefe Was Banned From Twitter.

In April 2021 “James O’Keefe, The Founder Of The Conservative Group Project Veritas” Was Banned “For Violating The Twitter Rules On Platform Manipulation And Spam.” “Twitter said on Thursday that it had blocked the account of James O’Keefe, the founder of the conservative group Project Veritas. Mr. O’Keefe’s account, @JamesOKeefeIII, was “permanently suspended for violating the Twitter Rules on platform manipulation and spam,” specifically that users cannot mislead others with fake accounts or “artificially amplify or disrupt conversations” through the use of multiple accounts, a Twitter spokesman said.” The New York Times, [04/15/21]

In February 2021, Twitter Also “Permanently Suspended The Project Veritas Account.” “In February, Twitter permanently suspended the Project Veritas account, saying it had posted private information. It also temporarily locked Mr. O’Keefe’s account.” The New York Times, [04/15/21]

December 8, 2020: Texas Attorney General Ken Paxton Filed A Lawsuit In The Supreme Court Seeking To Invalidate The Electoral College Votes Of Georgia, Michigan, Pennsylvania, And Wisconsin. "Texas Attorney General Ken Paxton today filed a lawsuit against Georgia, Michigan, Pennsylvania and Wisconsin in the United States Supreme Court. The court's action came in a one-page order, which said the complaint was denied 'for lack of standing.' Texas, supported by President Trump, tried to sue Pennsylvania, Georgia, Wisconsin and Michigan, claiming fraud, without evidence. But in order for a state to bring a case in court, especially the Supreme Court, a state must show it has been injured. Paxton Falsely Claimed That "Antifa" Were The Perpetrators Of The Capitol Riot, Citing Debunked Conspiracies

Paxton Falsely Claimed That "Antifa" Were The Perpetrators Of The Capitol Riot. "Not long after Texas Attorney General Ken Paxton addressed a large 'Save America' rally of Trump loyalists outside the White House on Wednesday, they marched on the Capitol and breached the building as Congress sought to ratify President-elect Joe Biden's electoral victory. But Paxton had his own ideas about the mob carrying pro-Trump flags and signs. A Website Called Texas Scorecard Posted An Election Conspiracy Theory Elevated By Eric Trump Website Texas Scorecard Uploaded A Video Which Claimed To Show The Theft Of Ballots In Detroit— Later Revealed To Be A Radio Show Moving Equipment But Only After It Was Shared By Donald Trump Jr. "Texas Scorecard: It all started with a red wagon and a white unmarked van. Shortly after filming he scene, Kellye SoRelle shared the video with the website Texas ScoreCard, which describes itself as ‘Someone’s always keeping score. We think it ought to be the citizens.’ That same day, Eric Trump retweeted the video now published in a story for the Gateway Pundit. His tweet gathered over 40,000 retweets and 300,000 views. Trump wrote: ‘WATCH: Suitcases and Coolers Rolled Into Detroit Voting Center at 4 AM, Brought Into Secure Counting Area.’...WXYZ photojournalist Josh Bowren explained in a segment for the news channel that he was the one in the video and the red wagon he was using did not contain ballot boxes but a box full of batteries. The Texas Scorecard story — which did include a statement from WXYZ — is still listed as trending on the front page.” Washington Post, [11/12/20]

- The Video Was Also Elevated By Popular Right Wing Youtuber Steven Crowder. “YouTuber Steven Crowder and a website operated by a powerful Texas conservative group spread a video that they claimed showed suspicious activity at a Detroit polling place. The video actually shows a local TV cameraperson with WXYZ Detroit wheeling equipment into the TCF Center... During a Wednesday livestream that racked up millions of views on YouTube, Crowder promoted the video as possible “proof” of voter fraud. As footage of the cameraperson played, he and a guest speculated that the man was bringing in ballots to be counted. When the man loaded a box onto a wagon, Crowder said, ‘You wouldn’t be able to trust it because some ballots could fly off the back.’” BuzzFeed, [11/13/20]

'Patriots just pushed through four lines of officers and breached the Capitol chambers which halted the electoral vote counting!' she reported." Bayou Brief, [01/26/21]

Although Musso Deleted Her Posts About The Insurrection, She Wrote “‘I Am Here In D.C., And I Will Tell You NOTHING Aligns With What The Media Is Saying.’” “But upon hearing news reports of the mayhem unfolding inside the building, the people she had only just described as ‘patriots’ were abruptly scrubbed from her story. ‘I am here in D.C., and I will tell you NOTHING aligns with what the media is saying,’ she wrote. ‘I will also tell you that close to 1.5 million to 2 million people PEACEABLY protested the entire two days.” Bayou Brief, [01/26/21]

Musso Falsely Claimed, “‘Antifa Showed Up On (Jan.) 5th And 6th Dressed In Capitol Police Uniforms And Trump Apparel And Started Attacking Trump Supporters,’” And “‘Six People Broke Into The Capitol In Protest, And All Six Were Identified As Antifa Members.’” “But her exaggerations about crowd size weren’t even close to her most outlandish assertion. ‘Antifa showed up on (Jan.) 5th and 6th dressed in Capitol Police uniforms and Trump apparel and started attacking Trump supporters,’ she claimed without evidence. ‘Six people broke into the Capitol in protest, and all six were identified as antifa members and promptly arrested,’ Musso falsely asserted. ‘Patriots assembled on the steps and sang the National Anthem.’” Bayou Brief, [01/26/21]

Musso Urged People To “‘Unfriend And Unfollow Mike Pence’” After He Said He Didn’t Have Authority To Decertify The Election. “In addition to wishing Eric Trump a happy birthday, Musso encouraged people to ‘unfriend and unfollow Mike Pence,’ echoing the frustrations of those who wrongly believed Trump’s claim that the fate of the election hinged on whether his once-dutiful Vice President ruled against ratifying the already-certified count of Biden electors, despite the fact that Pence lacked the authority to do so.” Bayou Brief, [01/26/21]

Rep. Banks Voted Against Certification Of Biden's Election Win And Was Accused Of Welcoming Rioters To Washington, DC

Rep. Banks Voted Against Certifying The Electoral Votes For President-Elect Joe Biden And Was Accused Of Inciting The Violence On The Capitol. “Many taking to social media to question if lawmakers and senators incited violence at the U.S. Capitol, including Indiana Congressman Jim Banks. Banks has been vocal on social media since the Capitol siege defending his decision to vote against electoral college votes Wednesday. Wednesday Banks tweeted he was ‘looking forward to welcoming thousands on Capitol Hill’ and said he was encouraging people make their voices heard. He says he denies inciting any kind of violence on that day.” [“Congressman Banks says he did not incite violence on the Capitol,” WPTA21, 01/10/21]

Rep. Cawthorn Called On Supporters To “Threaten” Lawmakers Who Opposed Claims Of Voter Fraud And Told The January 6 Stop The Steal Crowd That It “Had Some Fight In It.”

About Three Weeks Before The Insurrection, Rep. Madison Cawthorn (R-NC) Told Attendees At A Turning Point USA Event To “Lightly Threaten” Lawmakers Who Didn’t Pursue Claims Of Voter Fraud. “Republican Rep. Madison Cawthorn told a crowd at a Turning Point USA event last month to ‘lightly threaten’ lawmakers if they didn’t support claims of voter fraud made against the legitimacy of the 2020 presidential election. The lawmaker from North Carolina made the comments on December 21, a little over three weeks before rioters who supported President Donald Trump stormed the US Capitol as lawmakers debated the Electoral College vote and President-elect Joe Biden’s 2020 election win.” Kelly McLaughlin, [“Republican Rep. Madison Cawthorn told a Turning Point USA crowd last month to ‘lightly threaten’ lawmakers if they didn’t support claims of voter fraud,” Yahoo! News, 01/12/21]

At A “Stop The Steal” Rally On The Day Of The Insurrection, Cawthorn Told The Crowd It Had “Some Fight In It” And Condemned Republicans Who Were “Hiding And Not Fighting.” “Weeks later during the ‘Stop the Steal’ rally in Washington DC that descended into the riot at the Capitol in which five people died, Cawthorn spoke about an hour before Trump and told the crowd it has ‘some fight in it.’ ‘The Democrats, with all the fraud they have done in this election, the Republicans, hiding and not fighting, they are trying to silence your voice. Make no mistake about it, they do not want you to be heard,’ he said. ‘But my friends, when I look out into this crowd, I can confidently say, this crowd has the voice of lions. There is a new Republican Party on the rise that will represent this country, that will go and fight in Washington, DC.’” Kelly McLaughlin, [“Republican Rep. Madison Cawthorn told a Turning Point USA crowd last month to ‘lightly threaten’ lawmakers if they didn’t support claims of voter fraud,” Yahoo! News, 01/12/21]

Rep. Hice Voted Against Certifying The Electoral College Results And Said The Riots Didn’t Change That “Millions Of Americans Feel” The Election Was Fraudulent

Rep. Hice Voted Against Certifying The Electoral College Results And Said The Riots Didn’t Change That “Millions Of Americans Feel” The Election Was Fraudulent. “Georgia Representative Jody Hice held a community call Thursday responding to his actions. ‘As shameful as the storming of the capital was yesterday it did not change the fact that millions of Americans feel the elections were fundamentally fraudulent,’ said Rep. Hice.” CBS 46, [1/07/21]
