

Sen. Sinema Threatened To Derail The Build Back Better Budget After Taking Over $920,000 From The Industry Groups And Their Corporate Allies Leading The Fight Against Its Provisions

SUMMARY: In late August 2021, Sen. Kyrsten Sinema (D-AZ) threatened to "derail" the $3.5 trillion budget that is key to advancing President Biden's Build Back Better agenda—which would "create jobs, cut taxes, and lower costs for working families." At the same time, a "torrent of political groups" representing the nation's biggest industries prepared a "lobbying blitz" against the budget's proposals, including those to make corporations pay their fair share.

Sen. Sinema has taken at least $923,065 from the industry groups leading this charge against the Build Back Better budget or from the individual corporations these groups represent:

- The U.S. Chamber Of Commerce—Whose PAC Gave Sinema $6,000 And Whose Leadership Boards Are Packed With Corporations That Have Given Her $448,365—Vowed To Do "Everything We Can" To Block Biden's Budget After Offering Sen. Sinema A "Reward" For Resisting Biden's Agenda Earlier This Year.
- The Business Roundtable—Whose Board Is Stocked With CEOs From 12 Corporations That Have Given $187,200 To Sen. Sinema—Has Been Preparing "A Significant, Multifaceted Campaign" Against Tax Increases In The Build Back Better Budget.
- The RATE Coalition—Whose Major Corporate Members Gave $210,000 To Sen. Sinema—Was Poised For A "Seven-Figure" Ad Buy Against The Build Back Better Budget.
- The National Association Of Manufacturers (NAM)—Which Gave $10,000 To Sinema As Its Leading Corporate Members Gave Her $32,500—Was Poised To Ally With The U.S. Chamber's Fight Against The Budget And Was Lobbying On It "In Every Way You Can Imagine."
- PhRMA—Which Gave $6,000 To Sinema, Along With Its Major Members' $23,000—Has Run Ads Against The $3.5 Trillion Package And Has Spent More Than \$15 Million On Lobbying This Year.

Sen. Kyrsten Sinema (D-AZ) Announced Firm Opposition And Threatened To "Derail" President Biden's "Build Back Better" Budget As Major Corporate Groups Prepared A "Lobbying Blitz" Against The Package.

Late August 2021: Sen. Kyrsten Sinema (D-AZ) Committed To Opposing President Biden's $3.5 Trillion "Build Back Better" Budget As "A Torrent Of Political Groups" Representing The Biggest Corporations Prepared A "Lobbying Blitz" Against The Package.

Late-August 2021: Sen. Kyrsten Sinema (D-AZ) Firmly Stated Her Opposition To Democrats' $3.5 Trillion Budget Reconciliation Package, A Move That Threatened To "Derail" President Biden's Economic Agenda. "Sen. Kyrsten Sinema of Arizona is doubling down in her opposition to the $3.5 trillion price tag of a party-line spending plan Democrats are assembling to secure much of President Joe Biden's economic agenda. It may compel Democrats to dramatically scale back their ambitions in order to get her support." Business Insider, [08/23/21]

- Sinema Previously Indicated Her Opposition To The Package Before Announcing She Would Not Back It. "Sinema had previously indicated she would not back a $3.5 trillion plan, which could pave the way for Medicare's expansion, initiatives to combat the climate crisis, set up affordable childcare and tuition-free community college." Business Insider, [08/23/21]
- "The Showdown Could Stall Or Even Derail The President's Economic Agenda." Business Insider, [08/23/21]

Sinema's Spokesperson Said, "[Senator Kyrsten Sinema] Will Not Support A Budget Reconciliation Bill That Costs $3.5 Trillion." "Proceedings in the U.S. House will have no impact on Kyrsten's views about what is best for our country — including the fact that she will not support a budget reconciliation bill that costs $3.5 trillion," Sinema spokesperson John LaBombard told Politico." Business Insider, [08/23/21]

Late August 2021: "A Torrent Of Political Groups" Representing The Biggest Corporations In Several Industries Were Preparing A "Lobbying Blitz" Against President Biden's $3.5 Trillion "Build Back Better" Agenda. "A torrent of political groups representing some of the country's most influential corporations — including ExxonMobil, Pfizer and the Walt Disney Company — are laying the groundwork for a lobbying blitz to stop Congress from enacting significant swaths of President Biden's $3.5 trillion economic agenda. The emerging opposition appears to be vast, spanning drug manufacturers, big banks, tech titans, major retailers and oil-and-gas giants." The Washington Post, [08/31/21]

- Biden's "Build Back Better" Agenda Is Intended To "Create Jobs, Cut Taxes, And Lower Costs For Working Families" While Making Corporations And The Wealthy "Pay Their Fair Share" In Taxes. "The Build Back Better Agenda includes President Biden's American Families Plan and key elements of the American Jobs Plan that were not included in the Bipartisan Infrastructure Deal. In Washington, this proposal is known as 'reconciliation.' But the bottom line is a plan that will create jobs, cut taxes, and lower costs for working families—all paid for by making the tax code fairer and making the wealthiest and large corporations pay their fair share." The White House, [08/13/21]

U.S. Chamber of Commerce

In Late August 2021, The U.S. Chamber Of Commerce Vowed To Do "Everything We Can" To Block Biden's Budget After Giving $6,000 To Sen. Sinema And Offering Her A "Reward" For Resisting Biden's Agenda Earlier In The Year...

Late August 2021: The U.S. Chamber Was Building "An Economy-Wide Coalition" Against The Budget, Vowing To Do "Everything We Can" To Block It From Being Enacted In Full.

Late August 2021: The U.S. Chamber Of Commerce Was Assembling "An Economy-Wide Coalition To Coordinate The Fight" Against The Reconciliation Bill, Which Would Include Lobbying, And Ad Campaigns Against Democratic Lawmakers. "Among the most active is the U.S. Chamber of Commerce, which is starting to put together an economy-wide coalition to coordinate the fight against the still forming economic package, including its significant price tag, policy scope and potential for tax increases. The effort could encompass traditional lobbying on Capitol Hill as well as advertising campaigns targeting Democratic lawmakers, according to three people familiar with the matter who spoke on the condition of anonymity to describe the discussions." The Washington Post, [08/31/21]

The Chamber Vowed To Do "Everything We Can" To Block The Full Reconciliation Package, Which Its President And CEO Claimed It Would "Halt America's Fragile Economic Recovery." "In a sign of the obstacles Democrats face, the Chamber of Commerce last week took a firm stand against the package, promising to do 'everything we can' to prevent Congress from adopting it in full. The group's president and chief executive, Suzanne Clark, issued the statement hours after the House adopted the $3.5 trillion budget that enabled Democrats to begin crafting tax and spending provisions — an approach, she said, that would 'halt America's fragile economic recovery.'" April 2021: The Chamber Offered Sen. Sinema A "Reward" Of Campaign Money After She Resisted Biden's Agenda By Defending The Filibuster And The $15 Minimum Wage.

April 2021: The Chamber Offered Sinema A "Reward" Of Campaign Contributions After She Opposed Some Of Biden's Legislative Proposals. "The U.S. Chamber of Commerce said it is backing Democratic Senators Joe Manchin and Kyrsten Sinema with campaign contributions as a reward for their opposition to some of President Joe Biden's legislative initiatives and for trying to work with Republicans." Reuters, [04/15/21]

- Sinema Was Opposed To Ending The Senate Filibuster. "Manchin, who is from West Virginia, and Sinema, who is from Arizona, are opposed to ending the Senate's filibuster, a custom that requires a 60-vote majority to advance most legislation." Reuters, [04/15/21]
- Sinema Also Opposed Biden's Plan To Include A $15 Minimum Wage In His $1.9 Trillion Pandemic Relief Package. "Manchin and Sinema also opposed Biden's plan to include an increase in the minimum wage to $15 an hour as a part of his $1.9 trillion coronavirus relief package - a provision opposed by the Chamber, which said it hurts businesses struggling with the pandemic." Reuters, [04/15/21]

Undermine The Pandemic Recovery. "Business Roundtable President & CEO Joshua Bolten today issued the following statement on the Senate budget resolution: [...] 'But a $3.5 trillion budget resolution on top of this extraordinary spending is troubling. If the massive new spending contemplated in the proposed budget resolution were to materialize, inflation risks would increase dramatically, undermining recovery. In the longer term, a permanent $3.5 trillion increase in federal spending – and corresponding tax increases on American businesses – would impose a substantial debt burden on all Americans or dramatically undermine the competitiveness of the U.S. economy, and more likely do both.'" The Business Roundtable, [08/10/21]

Bolten Claimed The Tax Increases In The $3.5 Trillion Package Would "Counteract" The Bipartisan Infrastructure Package's Benefits. "Today's passage of a comprehensive infrastructure bill was a significant achievement made possible by bipartisan cooperation and compromise. As the Senate considers the budget resolution, Business Roundtable is deeply concerned about potential tax increases on U.S. job creators that would counteract the benefits of infrastructure investment. America needs prudent economic policies that boost, not undermine, the recovery, new job creation and long-term U.S. economic growth." The Business Roundtable, [08/10/21]

The RATE Coalition

The RATE Coalition Was Poised For A Seven-Figure Ad Buy Against The $3.5 Trillion Reconciliation Bill After Its Major Corporate Members Gave $210,000 To Sen. Sinema.

The RATE Coalition Has Been Preparing A "Seven-Figure" Ad Campaign Against The $3.5 Trillion Reconciliation Bill As Its "Chief Adviser," Former Sen. Blanche Lincoln (D-AR), Opposed "Any" Corporate Tax Increase.

The RATE Coalition, which represents Capital One, Disney, FedEx, Lowe's and Lockheed Martin, has been preparing a "seven-figure" ad campaign against the reconciliation package. "Other corporate interests are training their sights on Democrats' plans to pay for the bill through tax increases on businesses. Biden has proposed to raise the corporate rate to 28 percent from 21 percent, along with a slew of additional changes targeting profits earned overseas. The move has spawned outrage from companies that had spent significant sums four years ago to secure more favorable tax rules under President Donald Trump. The list of opponents includes the RATE Coalition, which counts support from Capital One, Disney, FedEx, Lowe's and Lockheed Martin. Over the next few months, the group is preparing a seven-figure digital advertising campaign to oppose Democrats' plans and highlight businesses that might be hurt in the process, according to a person with knowledge of the effort, who spoke on the condition of anonymity to describe the planning." RATE Coalition's "Chief Adviser," Former Sen. Blanche Lincoln (D-AR), Claimed "Any" Corporate Tax Increase Would "Carry Devastating Consequences For American Workers." "Any increase in the rate would position our country even further behind global competitors like China — and carry devastating consequences for American workers," said former senator Blanche Lincoln, a Democrat who serves as the group's chief adviser." PhRMA Has A History Of Siding With Right-Leaning Groups To Oppose Democratic Priorities, Like The Reconciliation Bill And Drug Pricing Reforms.

PhRMA Has Backed Groups That Have "Sharply" Criticized Democrats, Including The "Right-Leaning American Action Network," Which Announced A $5 Million Ad Campaign Against The Reconciliation Package In August 2021. "Many of these groups, which have taken PhRMA money in the past, have run ads sharply criticizing Democrats, including the party's most vulnerable lawmakers entering the 2022 midterms. One such group, the right-leaning American Action Network, in August announced a $5 million ad campaign against Democrats that blasted the reconciliation package broadly and likened its drug pricing proposals to socialism. The network has received past support from PhRMA, including a $4.5 million donation reported on the pharmaceutical group's 2019 tax filings, which were obtained by The Washington Post from the Center for Responsive Politics. The American Action Network did not respond to a request for comment." The Washington Post, [08/31/21]

PhRMA Has Also Backed The "Coalition Against Socialized Medicine," Which Has Run Ads Against Sen. Ron Wyden (D-OR) And His Drug Pricing Reform Proposals. "A separate ad blitz arrived this summer during the Olympics, when an organization billing itself as the Coalition Against Socialized Medicine took aim at Sen. Ron Wyden (D-Ore.), leader of the Finance Committee that oversees prescription drug pricing. 'Imagine a future in which a coronavirus vaccine was never discovered,' began the 30-second television spot, before flashing images of emptied classrooms, shuttered storefronts and Americans sleeping on the streets. Faulting Wyden's proposals, the ad concluded, 'It won't be hard to imagine at all.'" The Washington Post, [08/31/21]

The Coalition Against Socialized Medicine Has Been Backed By Other Conservative Groups That PhRMA Has Backed, Including American Commitment, FreedomWorks, And Heritage Action. "The coalition credits itself to the work of the American Conservative Union, along with the public backing of other right-leaning groups, including American Commitment, FreedomWorks and Heritage Action. Each of the organizations has received thousands of dollars in past support from PhRMA, according to copies of the drug lobby's 2017, 2018 and 2019 tax filings with the IRS, the most recent available." The Washington Post, [08/31/21]
